BYE-LAWS:

In Oct. 25, at the Sanitary Board meeting, on R. D. Orosby presiding, the followletter from Mr J. J. Bryan, Sanitary Surveyor, was read :- I have the honour to request that you will place the following facts before the Board, with a view to secura slight amendment in the wording of the present drainage bye-laws , Section 13 o Ordinance 24 of 1887 gives powers to the Board to make, alter, amond, or revoke bye-laws with regard to :- The proper construction, trapping, ventilating, and maintenance of mirate house drains. Dminago. bye-laws Nos. 1, 4, 10, 19, 24, 33, 43, 44, and 45 speak of new drains, and imply that only notices for new drainings works must be cent in ; that excavations made for old drains need not be lighted at night; that on inlet may be inside a house provided that it is connected with an old drain; that a bell or D trap may be fixed to an old drain illiation old drain may be covered up, without inspection, etc., etc. Frequently repairs to old drains are carried out without any notice being sent to this office, and in a few cases the 'repairs' lave been found to admit of the escape of acreer gas into the house. It has been argued at the Magistracy that byedaw 34 refers only to new drains, as in the preceding bye-laws inth new drains are mentioned. It has also been ruled by a Metropolitan Magistrate that if any existing drain is alterest, repaired, for even taken up, and new pipes substituted, that the drain is an old and not a new one. I suggest, therefore, for these reasons, that the word Snew be crosed from the above enumerate ed drainage byc-laws." The letter had previously been circulated among the members, and the following minutes were appointed, viz .--Mr McKle :- The bye-laws should apply to any drain. Mr Fung Wa Chuen :- I think the bye.

laws should be allowed to stand as they The President :- I think that the byes . -- laws should refer to old and new dwarms. Sapervision of ropairs to old dusius is most important. Dr Clark in moving that the Board apply to Government for power to amend the hyalows in the manner indicated, said the reason why this was necessary was because of to win, and barely three hours remain for a decision given a year or two ago by Mr play. Supendiary Magistrate Domman. Mr Denman decided that when an old brick drain was taken out and a new one put in ils place it was not to be regarded as a new drain. When a case cases up in the Colony the lawyes always quoted this caso. They argued that when a house was redrained they were not now drains and the Santary Board therefore find no control over them. Dr Rell, seconded and the motion was

WHY RUSSIA WANTS PEACE.

Bussia's proposal to withdraw from Peking is received with an unch astonishment in Europe as in America. The Hamburges Alchelehten, however, comes forward with an explanation; Russia loves peace, sup, but only until she is fixely for war when her present military preparations are ecunidate, then look out. To quote:-'Russia's interests are at present centered in three points of the continent of Asia maniely, in Western Turkestan, in East Asia, and in Persia. The forward march of the Ressians in Central Asia naturally included continuous fighting with the noundic thieving tribes, and did not pause until the berders of Persia and Afghanistan were reached. Hand in-hand with military operations went the building of a railread, first in the neighborhood of Gook Tope, then as far as the Oxus, and Inter to Bokhara and Samarkard. At the present moment the Chinese horder has been reached. Branch lines run have been negotiated at 315 per cent. prefrom Chedjent morthward to Tashkend, mium. 'In the East of Asia Russia displays even more energy. Among the powers of Europe Russia was the first to recognize the great importance of the extreme Orient. This was the cause of the building of the Siberian Railroad. To the point where the Spilka, the left branch of the Amur, navigable, the railroad is in operation. From the Schilka to Chabarowka, on the lower Amur, a line of steamers runs, and from Chabarowka to Vladivostock there is again railroad communication.

The practical value of this railroad for military purposes can scarcely be overrated. If the Czar sets an army in march for Eastern Asia, no nation in the world can oppose him. HONGRONS, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1900.

The struggle between the Sanitary Boardand the Executive appears to be coming to a head at last. As we have said repeat edly, the conflict is one in which arbitrary Crown Colony Government comes in the one side and the beginnings of municipal administration are arranged on the other. Strange as it may seem, the smallest village in China has a larger share of municipal power than Horizong possesses. and curiously enough, this determination on the part of the Imperial Government continue the warfare is so strong, that every official nerve is persistently strained to prevent the least signs of reluxation. The repeated refusals to permit the residents of this Colony to take the smallest part in oven the municipal administration begins to assume the dimensions of a huge and dreadful official bogoy. It would almost appour as if the enlightened resident had committed some awful crime which had carned him an everlasting exclusion from the rights of other Crown colonists. Well, the existence of the Sanitary Board has been a lengthened object lesson in this Colony. that we in Hongkong must not and cannot do anything in the direction of conducting our own affairs. The Board has been reconstructed more than once, and promises have been repeatedly made to the effect that more of the popular element would be imported into its constitution. In the earlier years of its existence Mr Price, Mr Brown, and latterly Mr Cooper were the leaders in the struggle against the highlyprized privileges of the bureaucratic party. During Mr Cooper's regime the unofficial members resigned in a body;

a patchy kind of reconstruction was carried. out. This almost laughable dread, entertained by the officials, of losing their arbitrary functions and powers by the swamping of an unofficial majority, became/manifest in the nomination of the headsof the Army Medical Corps to a seat on the Board. On several occasions, however, the P. M. O, has disappointed these hopes by sharply and forcibly criticising the official methods, and voting with the progressive section of unofficials. After this discovery and also in face of the fact that the Medical Officer On demand, 31 % dis. The effect of the resolution is to call upon the Government to submit to the Board the plans and designs of all new buildings which neve a direct connection with the health of the Colony. Dr Bell was the only dissontient. The resolution will therefore be forwarded to the Government, and it will be very interesting to note its reception by the Executive. It will also be of the deepest interest to the public to consider what the attitude of the members who voted for the resolution may be in the event of the usual phrase 'The

UNDER CANVAS.

By Corporal Jogglebury Jones, Jun., and his Father.

We have noted that the Sergeants' Mess is not the same as the Setgeants' Mess other years. In the old days of Stonecut ters, the long table accommodating all units, was always overfilled, but, this year, the two tables, provided because of the large increase in the personnel of the Corps, might well be curtailed to the dimensions of half of one of them. The hilarity and joviality, too, which used to characterise the Sergeants' Mess, is a thing of the past. Kennet does his best to make things hum, but what can one mando when the majority insist on dining at home or with their companies? It would be considered infra dig. for a Sorgeant in the regular service to fraternize with his men, yet, apparently,in the Volunteers, it is considered the proper thing to do Question : Is it conducivo to discipline?

It is well for a man to have a local habitation and a name, but it is much better for several to be in the same category. have noticed one tent which has labelled itself, the legend reading : Field Battery, No. 3 Sub. > What I want to know and what I will ntain is that the chap who sniped the other man's star ought to be brought to book. These stars take years to accumulate, and the recipients thereof do not, naturally, expect them to be shooting ones. There i one man in camp who mounts five of them, and this signifies twenty-five years continuous service. To serve for this time any man deserves every star he obtains, and it is cruel for another chappie to jump one of them. The only question remaining in this respect is: Did the loser lose it? That is where we come in.

That fearful wreck, poor Pa, has been distinguishing himself again, and alleges that he has captured the only malarial mosquito in the camp, and that he has slain the brute. As a proof of this, he brought au unknown combination down to Lieutement Mossop resterday evening, and induced that deserving and painstaking officer to prescut it to the general public at the smoker as the only innoculator of malaria in the The Sandal-Wood Trade. We confidently recommend to our Volunteer readers the scheme which has at its head His Grace the Duke of Sutherland, and is intended to make Sectionen sober. It is illuminated with the brilliant title "The Scottish Self-Control Society," or the 'S. S. S. which reads very much like the refrain of a popular music hall ditty. The objects of the Society are to compel its copt at a regular meal; not to "treat," i.e. not to offer or accept any alcoholic drinks, except at a regular meal; and, finally, not Reverting to the above paragraph, we may tell a simple story. The Battery Sergeant asked for a whisky and soda. This is pxnot how the thing goes. Give Jogglebury the not ashumed of the fact, but your Rechabites are invariably frauds.

The question arose the other day Where does the milk come from I whereupon one clover youth suggested that it was extracted from the animals composing WHEN you cannot sleep for coughing, the bullock transport train. The concert last night was the best givon during the Camp, so far. There was nothing set down in order inor ought set down in malice,' but grave and gay alternated throughout. First of all a word of praise is due to Shillington and Longhurst, who so ably presided at the box of dominoes, and to the former, more ospocially for his admirably executed violin solo. In fact, in all ways C Company, assisted by outside talent in a few instances, theroughly well acquitted themselves. Among the best items were Mr Aldridge's turns, the patriotic song by Private Burgess of the A.O.O., Sergeant Berry's They're getting larger, and the cornet soles of Private Townley. Lieutenant Stewart told us something about Robin Tamson's Smiddy, but, not understanding Russian, we were unable, exactly, to follow the words. They appeared, however, to be convincing to a large majority of audience. Corporal Terrill deserves a word of encouragement for struggling through difficult song in the midst of a wordy warfare in the back benches.

To morrow, after Church Parade, you will to called upon to show yourselves in face of the G. O. C. This should back you up and induce in you a feeling that, if it is good for a General Officer Commanding a station to turn out in the early morning to roview you, it is good enough for you to turn up to be drilled. This is the give-and-take maxim you eight to work upon.

CHANG CHI TUNG AND THE

A Remarkable Proclamation. (From a Correspondent.)

EXPOSING REFORMERS AND THEIRWAYS It will be remembered that the first part of the Proclamation gave the results of the examinations of Rebels and also a summary of letters and papers found in their possession. These were all shown to be in agreement. Chang Chi Tung then quoted independent proof he had; received from Li Hung Chang, Liu Kun I and other high Officials. This corroborated in a remarkable way all that had been brought to light through the inquiries, at least so it is said. Its absolute truthfulness is a question for the future. The References do not seem to be in a position to defend themselves or their ways just now, The second part of the Proclamation is practically an judictment of the Reformers. THE PROCEAMATION .- (Continued). Among the self-styled official documents there was one which said that this New Association of Independents is growtly porturbed because of the present state of China. This Chang Chi Tung declares to be movely a pretonce with the intention of enticing the youthful students of China to join their ranks. Many of the uninformed have been deceived by this means Is it not reprehensible? True the present state of China is of extreme gravity, but if all classos were united and working for the common good there is still hope. If the Rebe's were to rise all over the country the situation would be desperate. Those Rebels profess to be the saviours of the country but they are plotting for its destruction. Those Reformers give it out that they desire to change the country, but what they really wish to do is to upset the Dynasty. Thoy speak of protecting the country, but their intention is to plot and plan rebellion. Their artifices are not only plain to all thinking Chinese, but mon of all countries see through their

It has been discovered that Kang Yu Wei and Leung K'ni Ch'iu have been in correspendence with their followers. In their letters they have styled themselves the heads of this new Society. They wish to establish a new order of things, but they talk of protocling the Emperor and giving him more power. This cunning method of furthering their own interests causes men to stand aghast. From this it is manifest. that when the traitor Kang speaks of devising means to protect the Emperor this is only a blind, as his letters prove. It is sad to think that many of the Literati bava; been deceived by Knng. Recently in several places men have been convicted of incondiarism, robbery and murder. The letters, tickets, and papers, found in their possession show that they belong to the 'Independents.' Arms and money had been supplied to thom An arrangement also existed as to the different places where risings were to take place, and and were to be the leaders. Of all this there is certain proof. The inquiries showed that these Robels formerly as well as now were engaged in doing things equally lawless and hurtful to men. The Independents have united all the Rebels into one association. If these men had succeeded in carrying out their designs then every Province would have been invalved in ruin and untold misories and calamitics! would have fallen on the people and foreigners as well as Chinese would have

The house of Li Shan Tak Tong where the most important discoveri s were made at Hankow is partly in the city and partly in the foreign Concussion. This caused some difficulty in making the arrests. The British Consul came to the rescue of the Chinese officials and issued a warrant permitting whoever destroys the houses or shops of the arrests to be made, and the Concession pictice accompanied the Chinese soldiers to the house. Foreigners as well as Chinese saw the stores of arms and ammunition for the purposes of rioting and insurrection, and so all the foreign consuls knew that the Independents were most surely ullied with the Ko Lo Hwui to rob and rebel. () this thora was not the sludow of a doubt, and so it was necessary to arrest these men at Hankow they will be arrested and banded over to the Chinese authorities; Now if there had not been certain proof as to the guilt of T'ong Ts'oi Shoung and his associates, how would it have been possible to get the consent of the Consuls to arrest

In his examination Tong Teroi Sheung gave the names of a great many men, but it is not the intention of the officials to continue the inquiries. Lot all those who have tickets take them to the nearest mandarin or any of the local gentry and burn thom in their presence. Those who hide them will render themselves liable to severe punishment. It is because many people are ignorant of the ways of these rebels that this Proclaination desent forth. Let those who have entered the association quickly repent, Those who have not let them continue to be good people and give no heed to groundless rumours. Do not let any one sin against the country and earn the name of rubel thereby meriting death. Be careful and obey

Mr Marshall said the question had become one of considerable importance, there being now about 120 steam-launches in the barbour, the masters and engineers of which, who carried a c rtificate, had grown very difficult of control, owing to the ment, no matter what their record. It was possible, as matters stood, for a master to leave one service to-day, get a fresh cortificato to-morrow and enter on new employ the next day. What was wanted was a system of continuous record of certificates, which would prevent a man guilty of gross carelessness in bringing about a pollision, say one day, for which he might be discharged, being tiken on in ignorance by another employer di-
